Impact and Savings for Cheyenne Transit

Below is a high-level overview of Cheyenne Transit planning priorities, and the potential impact by investing in Remix.

Planning Priority	Current Process at Cheyenne Transit	Savings + Impact with Remix	Case Study
Transit system overview – provide service in new areas, find efficiencies in current network	• Network has not changed in many years • No formal tool to start evaluating network and proposing changes. Current planning is manual with pen + paper • Demographic analysis requires back and forth between agency + MPO's GIS specialist	$75-300k / yr Can complete study in-house efficiently and accurately	• COTA • TransLink (QLD)
Collaboration + communication	• Any change must go through public hearing + presentations with council and finance committee • Council doesn't necessarily have transit knowledge but it would be great to have their buy-in	80% time savings for staff +25% increase in engagement 2-week tasks can be done in 2 days Better informed stakeholders, no additional staff	• C-TRAN • BJCTA

Measurable and Proven Results

We've worked with 200+ agencies and documented their return on investment (ROI).

Agency	Use Case	Impact & Savings
	Miami-Dade Transit planned a new service + better optimized vehicle requirements	$4M saved in capital costs By foregoing 10 new buses while still providing the same level of service
	Auckland Transport conducted scenario planning for transit network analysis in Hibiscus Coast area	12X increase in staff productivity Saved 240 hours in staff time for scenario planning (92% reduction, from 252 hrs → 20)
	Indy MPO researched, designed, and planned Hamilton County's fixed-route service for a referendum and tax proposal	$150K+ saved in consultant fees By increasing staff capacity through using Remix in-house
	Torrance Transit analyzed Rapid and Local bus network to optimize operational costs and cut redundancy on 2 routes	$550K saved in operating costs And invested in weekend service as a result
	AC Transit reimagined their bus network after a ballot measure expanded their operating budget by 14%	24x increase in route scenario productivity Average iteration dropped from 1.5 days to 30 minutes
	Link Transit uses Remix to design detours, conduct scenario planning, and connect the urban core to rural areas	4x improvement in time designing detours Average route change dropped from 1 day of effort to 2 hours
	King County Metro designed a long-range plan that will add 2.5 million service hours by 2040	Saved 6 months and 2 extra staff members Built consensus during stakeholder review process across 39 municipalities in only 6 months
	C-Tran used Remix to generate Title VI Service Equity Analyses, and submitted successfully to FTA.	30x increase in productivity Title VI analysis time dropped from 1 month to 1 day, significantly increasing the number of service improvements the agency could plan.

Remix product versions

Version launches and high-level product development to date, 2014 through Jan 2017.

Background on Remix Web-Based Versions

Because Remix is Software-as-a-Service (SaaS), we constantly build new features and improvements. Over time, you can expect to get more value out of the platform.

Continuous improvement is our simple model.

Traditional companies charge a large upfront cost for software, yearly maintenance fees, and additional customer service fees. Whenever a new software version comes out, these companies restart the process and charge all over again. Remix believes in continuous improvement of our software and a simple subscription model to support it.

Invest once and get all new versions of Remix.

Because Remix is web-based, we can release features anytime. Since 2014, Remix has released 15 versions of the product and has added 40+ new features or product improvements. All of these product improvements are released to all of our customers. We want to provide you with the full functionality of Remix, always.

We improve because we listen.

Most of what we build comes directly from customer feedback. We release small improvements every week, and we ship big features at least once per quarter.

Our SaaS philosophy allows continual investment in our product.

We expect to release several major versions every year. Agencies who join Remix later in the year may see a different quote from earlier estimates because they are coming on board with the most valuable, up-to-date version of Remix. Once on board, agencies will get all additional features and product improvements at no additional cost for the duration of their Remix agreement. That's our software-as-a-service philosophy, which allows us to continuously invest in making the product better and provide the most value to our customers.

Why do our customers choose to invest in multi-year deals?

1. They can easily forecast the cost of Remix in the future budget
2. All new features are included in the price
3. No increase in costs if their fleet size increases

Remix Proposal for Cheyenne Transit

Prepared for Tom Mason and Renae Jording, Cheyenne Transit. By Janice, Remix (janice@remix.com). Date: 28 MAR 2017
